David Juhlin appointed new CFO of John Mattson

John Mattson has recruited David Juhlin as the company's new CFO. He will take up his position on 3 May and will also become a member of the Executive Management Team. Until then, Lars Ingman will continue in his role as interim CFO.

Incoming CFO David Juhlin most recently comes from Studentbostäder i Norden AB (publ), where he has served as CFO since 2021. Prior to this, he held positions including Controller and Property Manager at Amasten Fastighets AB, as well as several roles at Rikshem AB. He has extensive experience from the property sector and from the role of CFO.

"I very much look forward to welcoming David Juhlin as the new CFO of John Mattson. His extensive experience from the property sector and his understanding of all the value drivers across the business will be an important asset as we now enter the next phase of our growth journey. With his expertise in financing, he will play a central role in freeing up capital for continued growth," says Per Nilsson, CEO of John Mattson.

"I look forward to joining the company at an exciting stage in its development. With a strong focus on long-term profitability, financial discipline and sustainable growth, I hope to contribute to strengthening the business and creating value for customers, employees and shareholders," says David Juhlin," says David Juhlin.

John Mattson's Executive Management Team consists of Per Nilsson, CEO; Charlotte Nordén, Head of Communications and Marketing; Ludmilla Brandt, Head of Project Development; Daniel Fornbrandt, Head of Business Development; Maria Wirén, Head of Property Management; and Lars Ingman, interim CFO. No later than 3 May 2027, Lars Ingman will be succeeded by David Juhlin as CFO.
